

Product and Service Innovation Policy

We are committed to continuous improvement of product and service innovation

We are continuously developing new products, qualities and services for the Life Science and Industrial community by focusing on the requirements of our customers, partners and market trends.

We are partnering with producers of unique or patented innovative fine chemical specialties and ingredients that support the constant good health or protection of our environment.

Additionally we strive after new solutions which promote sustainable Green chemistry processes and following the 12 Principles of Green Chemistry:

Buchs, August 2023